

ML-series

Marine Louver series

ML-series

▲ impression

▲ impression

The ML series is a product range developed within the strategy of FlowGrill. Combined with the reputable service and quality, this product is specially designed for the marine sector. The integration of frame and louver has led to a simple product which can be mounted directly to the ship's hull.

The ML series consists of a standard range of lamella types that have been developed in the past. Standard material to be used is aluminium, but also stainless steel can be applied.

Along with the quality of surface finish, pre-treated by immersion baths, FlowGrill is able to deliver a louver concept with proven technology.

With the ML series, FlowGrill offers a range of products with outstanding quality.

